I made this code for a project of the subject "Data Structures and Algorithms" which consists in programming the code of a player to make him compete against the players of other students in a videogame. The "main.pdf" file explains what the project was and in the "Alalex.rubiano.cc" file is my code developed.